Principles of Organic Land Care

Thursday, May 12th, 2016

10:30 AM

Atlantic Design Center – in the Eldredge Lumber Building
627 US Route One, York, Maine

John Bochert, the Eldredge's Lawn & Garden Specialist, with 30 years experience in green and organic food industries will present this seminar.

John will discuss the importance of using organic techniques and products in all aspects of home and landscaping from vegetable gardens to lawns to trees and shrubs.

This "systems based" approach to land care recognizes the critical role played by the vast array of micro-organisms present in healthy soil. When the proper attention is paid, the result is a safer, healthier, more resilient, and less costly landscape.

John looks forward to introducing new products.

There will also be time for questions.

Do not miss this informative and educational seminar.
